Editorial

Without extensive research, the Seaside City Council and the Monterey County Board of Supervisors entered into an agreement to provide and/or transfer the Health and Welfare offices to the city of Seaside.

These offices, purportedly are to be located in the "Pit" area, although the agreement doesn't specify this. In fact, the agreement doesn't specify much of anything, except that the "Pit" area will be used for public purposes, without the consent of Seaside.

One or more sites were briefly considered, but case aside by the county based on consideration that the county would rather "own than rent or lease."

An alternate site which received only minor consideration is a site adjacent to the senior citizens housing area on Broadway and Yosemite. Apparently, proper presentation was not made to either the City of Seaside or the County of Monterey comparing the advantages versus the disadvantages which are outlined herewith.

A proposal was made to the County which provides that a non-profit organization sponsor a building at the suggested site which would house several social organizations, such as the Red Cross, the Alliance On Aging, etc., as well as the county health and welfare offices. The Board of Supervisors balked at the prospects of leasing, and only Supervisor Branson favored a study to consider the advantages to the county.

Research by interested parties would disclose that the county could sponsor such a facility with the tools available to them. Instead of an outlay of over half-million dollars, the county could purchase the land for $120,000 and apply to the Small Business Administration under the 502 program for a loan up to $1,080,000 and erect the building.

The county could be the landlord, occupy the 18,000 sq. ft. necessary and lease out the other 20,000 sq. ft. for enough rent to pay back the loan. After twenty years, the county could own the building, and have a tremendous income thereafter.

This program would benefit Seaside equally as well. Sale of the property at Yosemite and Broadway would assist the Redevelopment Agency in closing out the Del Monte Heights Project. The facility would be adjacent to the people who need it most, senior citizens.

Secondly, the "Pit" area would be available to the city for relocation of the fire station. Having the fire station in the center of town would not only provide the citizens of Seaside better fire protection, but it may also tend to lower fire insurance rates.

Thirdly, relocation of the fire station would provide an excellent opportunity for the city to permanently locate the city corporation yard on the old fire station property, eliminating the expenditure of $300 per month rent for the present temporary site.

Vandalism of the county offices near the senior citizens is apt to be much less than the "Pit" area, and vandalism of a facility like the fire station with its 24-hour-per-day occupancy would be minimal.

The city wouldn't have to sacrifice to the county $55,000 in the sale at half-price of the "Pit"; the county need not expend but $120,000 of the budgeted half-million, and the entire project would ensure that a mistake similar to the location of the County Courthouse Annex will not result.

The option agreement which the Council of Seaside ratified at its last meeting was delivered only a few hours before council action. It was plainly evident that it wasn't read carefully, and questionable whether or not advice was elicited from the City Attorney. Nothing specific; no guarantee that Seaside would obtain anything medical, and no deposit forfeitable if the county reneged. And no out for the City in the event Seaside changed its mind.

And worst of all, no advice from the Planning Commission or any other advisory body. Kind of a speedy way to shaft the taxpayer.

In effect, the city is paying the county $55,000 to move the Welfare office to Seaside, enhancing the image that Seaside is loaded with welfare recipients.

The Seaside POST & News Sentinel visited Security Savings & Loan Association, talked with hard working and dedicated Ed Fisher, Assistant Vice President and Manager of the Seaside office, 1033 Broadway. Ed is proudly proclaiming the big 7 1/2 per cent interest being paid now by Security Savings, and is inviting all citizens to come in now and take advantage of the opportunity to

Police Harass Minorities

The gap between law enforcement agencies and the Black community is rising at an alarming rate according to reports reaching this office.

Incidents of alleged harassment by police against minorities continue to come to light, especially in the San Francisco, Oakland and Richmond areas.

Minorities feel that it is unsafe to drive down city streets after dark, in fear of their lives, especially if they are an integrated couple or they are neatly attired. The cause for this alarm may or may not be justified, for each of the persons reporting the incidents have stated the police have approached them with drawn guns and treated them as if they were criminals.

An incident was reported by William "Bill" Thompson, Community Relations Representative to the Governor's Office in Richmond.

Bill is married to a blonds, and is a fishing bug. He, his wife and son, Doug, along with another boy were enroute to Clear Lake, Saturday, February 9, for the purpose of fishing.

Mrs. Thompson was asleep on the front seat of their Mustang, when Bill noticed a California Highway Patrol vehicle coming up on them at a very high rate of speed. Bill observed that he within the speed limits and did not become alarmed.

The CHP slowed down to match the speed of Bill when he came along side the car, and looked the passengers over. Bill stated the CHP officer paced him along side the car for at least a minute, then pulled ahead about 20 years and continued to pace them. This continued for some minutes, then the CHP pulled over to the side of Highway 5 and permitted Bill to pass.

There was another car in the rear of Bill following him which held a couple who were going fishing with them. The CHP pulled in behind the second car and continued to pace the Bill stated he noticed another CHP car coming at a very high rate of speed from the same direction. This CHP car pulled in behind the first CHP car. Then Bill stated he noticed another CHP car coming from the opposite direction at a high rate of speed.

A fourth and fifth CHP car arrived and they made their move. Their red lights came one and stopped the second car which contained the husband and wife, friends of Bill. Then the second CHP car continued after Bill, who was pulling over because his friends were stopped.

"His red light came on," Bill stated, "and I was stopping anyway. He stopped behind me and never dismounted from his car. He opened the front door of his car and stuck his shotgun in between the door and the frame of his patrol car, pointing it at me and yelled: 'Driver, cut off you engine'. His next words were: 'Everyone in the car, put your hands on the dash'. We did so. The next command was 'Driver, get out of the car'. I got out of the car facing him. He snapped:

'Driver, turn around, don't face me, put your hands behind your head and don't move.'

"Now, at this time he opened his car door with the shotgun in his hand, after socking a shell into the chamber.

"I was standing there

Senate Passes Bill For Free Legal Assistance

Led by Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) and other advocates of free legal assistance for the poor, the Senate has passed by a 69-to-17 vote a bill creating an independent National Legal Services Corporation.

Success came after Cranston — along with Senators Gaylord Nelson (D., Wis.), Walter Mondale (D., Minn.), Edward Kennedy (D., Mass.), Jacob Javits (R., N.Y.), and Robert Taft Jr. (R., Ohio) — helped smash a filibuster aimed at killing the bill and beat back more than a score of amendments designed to cripple it.

"The legal services program has been the most productive of all the War on Poverty programs," Cranston said.

Cranston, Mondale and Kennedy were original authors of the concept of an independent, private, non-profit legal services corporation free of political influence.

"The legal services program has provided the poor with vital tools to gain full participation in our society," Cranston said. "It has helped to restore the faith of a large segment of our population in the fairness and accessibility of our system of law and courts."

"The poor must be able to vindicate their rights through the judicial process and the attorney-client relationship requires that legal services be free from political interference," Cranston stated.

"In California," the Senator said, "I have seen the tremendous impact of the legal services program. Food has been made available to hungry citizens in every county of my state; senior citizens have been given access to essential health care; consumer fraud schemes preying on the poor have been successfully halted; discrimination in employment is being challenged; and 80,000 Spanish-speaking Californians were enfranchised by the elimination of an English literacy requirement for voting."

The effectiveness and success of the legal services program have brought about strenuous opposition from those who wish to preserve the present state of things, Cranston noted. As a result of this opposition, it has become clear that legal services must be free from all forms of political pressure.

The bill, S.2686, transfers the legal services program, which has been operated by OEO since 1966, to a new corporation.

The corporation will have an 11-person Board of Directors, appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. It will receive up to $71.5 million for FY 174, $90 million for FY 175 and $100 million a year thereafter.

The program currently has more than 900 offices staffed by 2,200 full-time attorneys. It is estimated the program will have served over half-a-million clients and dealt with one-and-a-half-million separate legal problems in 1973.

The bill now goes back to the House which has passed a similar measure. The House can either accept the Senate bill or request a conference with the Senate to work out a compromise.

Blood Drive Underway

The Monterey Peninsula American Red Cross announced recently that Feb. 17 - 23 will be Blood Donor Week on the Monterey Peninsula. "...We hope that everyone able to give blood will register at this time," explained Red Cross Chapter Director Al Veterano. Director Al Veterano said, "If you are unable to give perhaps you will be willing to help us explain how blood can sustain lives. It's something that can be given with very little effort and it's something only you can do. Your blood is the key that can recycle life... for an accident victim... for someone who needs surgery... or for someone who requires regular transfusions to maintain life."

"A vigorous, productive number of blood donors are needed on the Monterey Peninsula to supply the Red Cross/Community Hospital with this vital life giving factor. We are not running out of potential sources blood but it will mean much work and considerable time to explain to the people of this community, how invaluable their donations can be to the patients," stated a hospital spokesman.

During Blood Donor Week, information centers will be found at: Safeway Store, Rio Rd. and Highway #1; Safeway Store, Mid Valley, Carmel; Holman's Dept. Store, Pacific Grove; Carmel Post Office, Carmel; Carmel Rancho Shopping Center; and Del Monte Shopping Center. Questions pertaining to blood donations will be answered and donors may register. All persons of both sexes, 18 through 65 are acceptable, minimum weight 110 lbs. Donors should refrain eating all fatty food before donating. Strict fasting is not desirable, but it is recommended that donors partake of light nourishment.

Beware Of Noise Pollution

Noise is an often-overlooked form of pollution, and people should -- and can -- do something about it.

California Medical Association says that individuals can do two things. They can pressure the government to pass stronger anti-noise laws and enforce them. People also can take steps themselves to minimize or block the noise that almost constantly assaults their ears.

Prolonged exposure to overpowering noise can gradually cause permanent hearing loss, warns CMA. Each inner ear contains about 17,000 tiny structures that process sound and transmit it via nerve fibers to the brain. Loud noise can permanently damage these delicate cells.

Further, CMA cautions, "because noise deafness comes on so insidiously, by the time you face the fact that it has damaged you, it is too late to take any corrective measures. It is possible that loud and incessant noise also affects other body systems -- cardiovascular, endocrine and neurological -- and it certainly seems to contribute to psychological distress revealed by such symptoms as fatigue, irritability and insomnia."

To avoid hearing loss, CAM says, there are things the individual himself can do to safeguard his hearing from excessive noise. He can limit the time he is exposed to such noise sources as chain saws, lawn mowers and rock music. He can bypass areas of heavy construction or major street repairs. Finally, he can place barriers -- ear plugs or ear muffs -- between himself and excessive noise.

CMA's advice on combatting noise is published in a current Health Tip, a publication issued free to schools and health officials throughout the state.

MPVS Announces Monthly Donations

The Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services meeting was held Feb. 1 at the U.S.O. Center with new president, Mrs. Robert Robertson, presiding.

The list of donation requests from various organizations will be especially heavy this year. The following were approved by the M.P.V.S. membership to receive aid during the month of February: Friendship House of Seaside (a service to aid men just out of prison) $500; The American Field Service Foreign Student Exchange Program, Carmel Chapter, $250; and $1,500 towards the building fund for Gateway Center (the hospital for the mentally retarded).

The highlight of the meeting was when Mrs. Robertson showed the members a check for $150 presented to her and Mrs. James Schallerer of Pebble Beach by Chet Ramsay, manager of Northern California Savings and Loan. M.P.V.S. was one of the community projects to benefit by the proceeds of the successful Hootedoodle Dinner. The check was an appreciated surprise to an organization which has turned back to the community over one half million dollars during the past years.

Law On Lead, Cadmium Poisoning Activated

Tough legal restrictions on glazed ceramic tableware will be enforced to protect California consumers from possible lead and cadmium poisoning, a state health official said recently.

Because improperly glazed or decaled tableware can release lead or cadmium over a long period of time, these metals may accumulate in the body in toxic amounts, resulting in illness or death, according to Carl Nelson, product safety coordinator in the State Department of Health's Food and Drug Section.

Nelson said that under legislation effective January 1 (AB 506 - 1972), any manufacturer or importer who offers glazed ceramic tableware for sale in California needs a "certificate of acceptability" assuring that lead and cadmium levels are below that specified in the law. Manufacturers and importers will be required to submit test results to the health department before a certificate is issued.

Nelson said passage of the law two years ago came in the wake of public concern after a California family was poisoned by orange juice contaminated with lead. Laboratory tests showed that acid in the juice had leached the lead out of an improperly

Now Is Time To Plant

Summer is a time of bright colors, bright sunlight, blue skies -- and beneath it all -- the bright shades of annual flowers abetting the beauty of the season. And for many areas of California, now is the time to plant late spring and early summer annuals, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

An excellent choice is China Aster -- a favorite for cutting and many garden settings. It's available in most colors except pure yellow and has a variety of flower forms.

For a showy, sun-loving flower choose the African Daisy, sometimes called Cape Marigold. There are two varieties -- one with white flowers and blue ring centers; the other of satiny orange blooms. Hybrids come in white, yellow, apricot and salmon.

An old-fashioned annual that appeals to those who prefer formal-looking plants is Balsam. One variety blooms with camellia-like flowers in soft pinks, lilac, scarlet and white. Dwarf Hybrid Balsam plants grow eight inches and are double-flowered. Balsam performs well in informal flower beds, edgings and pots, too.

The Petunia family offers good varieties for California gardens. The novelty Petunia Mercury is a favorite, a heavenly blue. Others are Sugar Plum, a bright orchid pink Petunia, penciled in its center with rich, purple hues; Neptune, a medium violet blue and Satellite, a bright rose-colored Petunia with a perfect white star. All these are singles.

Also in the annual family is an orchid-like flower blooming in rich pinks, rose, orange, scarlet, blue and yellow -- the Nemesis Strumosa. This annual is ideal for container planting in window boxes or pots and excellent as a mass effect foreground in front of shrubs, or interplanted with bulbs.

In some parts of the state these annuals should be planted a bit later -- March or April to forestall risk of frost.

glazed pitcher purchased in Mexico, Nelson said.

"If the glazes are properly formulated, applied, and fired," Nelson said, "the lead salts are sealed and cannot be leached out by acidic foods, such as fruit juices, soft drinks, cider, or those containing vinegar."

"Some manufacturers will probably save the cost of testing by producing glazes that do not contain

CLCA Elects New Officers

Ray Sumida of Cypress Garden Nursery, Monterey, has been installed as 1974 president of the Monterey Bay Area Chapter, California Landscape Contractors Association (CLCA).

Sumida succeeds Henry Yamanishi of Pacific Grove, who served as 1973 president.

Others installed with Sumida include: Al Gozzellino, Alpine Lane Nursery, Salinas, vice president; Russee Parvin, Parvin's Landscaping and Hydro Seeding, Seaside, secretary and Don Ross, Don Ross Sprinkler Co., Pacific Grove, treasurer. The Monterey Chapter holds its monthly membership meetings on the second Wednesday of each month. Information concerning Chapter meetings can be obtained from Sumida (408) 373-1625.

CLCA is the largest organization of landscape contractors in the United States. It has local Chapters throughout the state.

lead or cadmium," he added.

Because the new California requirements apply to glazed ceramic tableware imported from manufacturers throughout the world, regulations have been difficult to write, Nelson said.

"Importers have been concerned because of the wide range of markets and the interest in new import sources, such as Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and China. As a result, in determining its procedures for issuing certificates, the Food and Drug Section has sought ideas from a wide range of potters, both domestic and foreign."

Nelson said the health department will issue regulations when it has determined that the interests of the consumer, manufacturers and importers are fairly represented. Both the law and the proposed regulations place California ahead of any other state or country in this area of consumer protection, he added.

(Join Us.)

There are a lot of jobs to be done in this world, helping people in trouble, in pain, in distress. American Red Cross takes on more of these jobs than anybody. Surprised?

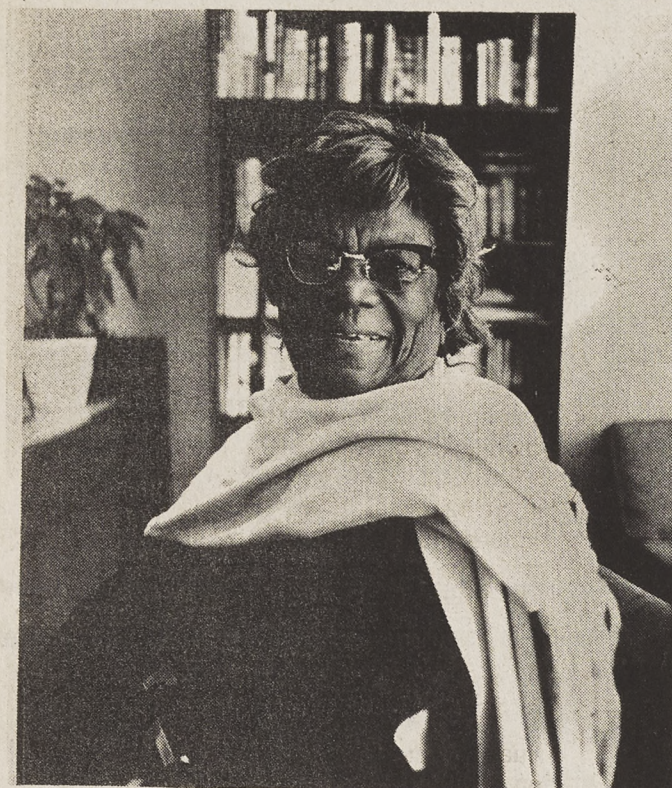

Remember: Red Cross is more than blood drives. It's more than helping the thousands of victims of disasters. In fact, American Red Cross tackles over 100 different kinds of "Helping People" jobs -- in the city, the suburbs wherever you are.

We need money, it's true, so we can go on offering all our free services. But we also need hearts. And hands. And conviction.

Call your local chapter. Join us.

The American Red Cross. The Good Neighbor.

Court Upholds Welfare Rule

A state requirement that employable welfare recipients must actively seek regular jobs in order to be eligible for welfare benefits was upheld by Judge Irving Perluss of the Superior Court in Sacramento.

Judge Perluss denied a motion for summary judgment and refused to grant a preliminary injunction sought by the Western Center on Law and Poverty and the San Francisco Neighborhood Legal Assistance Foundation.

The plaintiffs alleged that the "seek work" requirement of Governor Reagan's welfare reform program violated federal and state law. In refusing the motions, Judge Perluss specifically stated that no federal or state laws were violated by this provision.

The provision is part of California's Employables Program under which all employable welfare recipients (with some exceptions such as mothers with young children and persons over 65) must register for employment or job training with the state employment office. The registrant must accept a suitable job if available, take part in job training and actively seek regular work. If any of these alternatives is refused without good cause, the recipient is declared ineligible for welfare payments.

Commenting on the judge's ruling, Dwight Geduldig, Director of Employment Development Department, said the requirement that employable welfare recipients conduct their own job search was one of the basic reasons for the success of the Employables Program.

"The whole thrust of the program is to help welfare recipients become self-sufficient as fast as possible. The state employment offices can help with training and some job information, but it's absolutely necessary that the welfare recipients themselves seek work on their own. The state doesn't know where all the jobs are. This requirement speeds the return to work of people who would otherwise be still on the welfare rolls."

Announces CSAA Trying New Insurance Spring Play

The Pulitzer Prize winning play, A Streetcar Named Desire, by Tennessee Williams, will be one of Carmel High School's major productions this year.

Starting this past theatre season, a nation wide set of major revivals began in celebration of the 25th anniversary of A Streetcar Named Desire. The Carmel High School's production represents one of the rare productions of this play on the Monterey Peninsula.

Major roles are Ellen Sherman as the tragic Blanche DuBois, the brutal Stanley Kowalski is portrayed by Mark Tanous. Cynthia Goble portrays Stella Kowalski, Blanche's sister. Sensitive Mitch is played by Topper Pendlay and the Kowalski's Landlady, Eunice, is characterized by Sue Anderson.

A Streetcar Named Desire will be presented March 1, 2, 7, 7, and 9, at 8 p.m. in Carmel High School's Pawnshop Theatre, Room 2. The cost is $1.25 for Adults and 75¢ for Students with identification cards. It is recommended that children do not attend the performances. Reservations may be made by calling 624-1821 before 4 p.m.

IRS Says Reports Are False

The Internal Revenue Service said reports that gasoline stations may increase their prices over and above those for product cost increases are false.

Recently, sellers of gasoline, diesel fuel and home heating oil were allowed to increase their maximum selling prices by one cent on a one time basis only. This one cent increase was granted by the Federal Energy Office to compensate retailers for non-product cost increases.

The IRS was careful to point out, however, that additional increases may be granted in the future.

The California State Automobile Association Inter-Insurance Bureau announced recently that it will test market an entirely new concept in automobile insurance coverage in four locations in northern California beginning February 1, 1974.

"The new policy called All Risks Physical Damage is different from any coverage available on the market today and could well change the entire philosophy of automobile insurance," said Richard V. Patton, Vice President General Manager of the Inter-Insurance Bureau. "All rRisks Physical Damage coverage is intended to reimburse the insured for any physical loss that can happen to the insured automobile. This new coverage has no counterpart in the insurance industry today," Patton continued. All Risks is a sincere attempt to provide the policyholder with total protection in a form which he can read and understand. It includes payment for many items not now included in auto insurance policies, such as mechanical repair, rental car expense, and a single deductible applied regardless of how the loss occurred. In addition, it provides for a $250 reward for any information furnished leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone stealing or vandalizing the insured automobile.

"The new All Risks

Physical Damage coverage will be test marketed in Sacramento, Carmichael, San Jose, and Los Gatos. It is our belief that this new total protection package will be welcomed by the motorists," Patton concluded.

A native of Canon City, Colo., SKSN Rowe received the award at a recent personnel inspection from Commander D. A. Meyer, Commanding Officer of Enlisted Personnel, NPS.

Assigned to the Personal Property Branch of the Supply Department, SKSN Rowe was nominated by the co-workers of her division as one of four from various NPS divisions. After careful consideration and a record review of the four nominees, she was designated to receive the October-December award.

Police

Continued from page 1 with my hands behind my head, looking like a damned fool, and about three other policemen walked up. One approached the right hand side of my car with his pistol drawn in his right hand, reached with his left hand and opened the door and asked my wife to get out. She did.

"Then he said, 'Let me see some kind of identification.' She produced her driver's license. Then he threw up his hands and said everything is O.K."

Bill stated the CHP searched the other couple's persons, including the woman. At no time prior to this did the officers inform Bill what he had done that was a violation, and yet he felt that a twitch on his part would cause him to lose his life.

The occupants of both cars were terrified at the attitudes of these guardians of the law, and any feelings of respect turned to abject fear of the people chosen to guard the citizens.

It was later learned from the couple in the second car that some passing motorist had allegedly reported that they thought Bill's wife was Patricia Hearst, even though there is no resemblance to the people in question.

At no time was Bill asked for identification and no justifiable reason was given for the stopping of this citizen. When asked if he wanted to see Bill's identification, the Highway Patrol officer stated, according to Bill, "No, that won't be necessary." This was, according to Bill, a clear cut case that Bill's car had been checked out.

All performances at 8 p.m.

Mozart's Symphony in G Minor, K. 183 was chosen by Mr. Taeuber to open the concert. The theme of the opening movement of this Symphony is familiar to almost everyone through a popularized version, but the impact of its beauty will be realized when heard in a performance by the full Orchestra.

Featured soloist for the concert is Marian Marsh, soprano, singing the lovely "Four Last Songs" by Richard Strauss. Miss Marsh has performed with Monterey County Symphony previously in Carl Orff's "Carmina Burana" as well as in last season's "Pops" concert series. This season she makes her third consecutive performance with the San Francisco Symphony under Seija Ozawa. She has also sung with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the Orquestra Sinfonica Nacional of Lima, Peru, and the Oakland Symphony.

Completing the program are Mahler's "Adagietto for Harp and Strings" and the "Rapsodie Espagnole" by Ravel, always a favorite with audiences.

Tickets are available at the usual Symphony outlets and at the box office the night of performances. For further information call 624-8551.

CSAA Warns:

Cross At Crosswalks

Every pedestrian should know that jaywalking is one of the best ways to invite an accident, says the California State Automobile Association. By making use of corners and crosswalks, the pedestrian can enhance his own safety to a significant degree. When standing on a corner the pedestrian is readily visible to approaching traffic; and at the same time, he has an optimum vantage point for viewing the total traffic situation around him.

The CSAA reminds pedestrians to utilize corners and crosswalks whenever crossing the street. In addition to greater visibility, corners and crosswalks are often equipped with several other special provisions to help ensure safety, such as special pedestrian crosswalk signals and marked crosswalk lines. And remember: a motorist expects to see pedestrians at corners - not crossing in the middle of a block. The cautious pedestrian, however, will never let this factor lull him into not checking the traffic situation before crossing.

Motorists as well should cooperate for pedestrian safety. Safe driving procedures should always be followed at intersections and crosswalks, with a special alertness for children who may be inexperienced in traffic situations.
